

KeyTrak Edge Concierge for Condos

In the condo industry, it's common for HOAs and boards to require owners to provide copies of their door keys or fobs for maintenance and emergency purposes. But some residents are uneasy about giving up control of their home keys. After all, if those keys aren't secured and tracked, residents' safety is at risk.

In addition, the HOA or board — whose members are often residents themselves — could be liable for lost or misused keys.

With the KeyTrak Edge Concierge system, you can give owners peace of mind and reduce board members' liability by controlling who can access spare copies of unit keys or key fobs.
